Our Free Press Owes To Linotype Machine

Ottmar Mergenthaler's Linotype machine, christened in the offices of the New York Tribune on July 3, 1886, was "the most potent machine of its age," states the March Reader's Digest.

The new machine touched off a boom in printing, created hundreds of industries and millions of jobs, greatly enlarged daily newspapers while lowering their cost made possible the printing of more magazines and books of many kinds. Because of the Linotype, libraries multiplied in number and size, and in a single generation the level of literacy advanced by a full century.

The Linotype made a metal slug that would print simultaneously several words in a line of type the width of a newspaper column. Previously, words and sentences had been formed laboriously by men who picked up the letters one at a time from type cases.

For some time after its first use, however, the machine seemed headed for failure for it was too costly for any but the largest publishers. Then the idea of leasing Linotypes was proposed. Small publishers could meet the rental terms; soon scores of small-town newspapers appeared. By the year 1900 there were 8,000 Linotypes in use.

In thus making modern printing possible, Mergenthaler succeeded where many other inventors had failed. He knew nothing of printing, the article says; therefore "his prime advantage was an open mind—he had nothing to forget."

Though he died in 1899 at the age of 45, his machine paid him and his heirs about $1,500,000.

Seek Freight Rate Boost

Though granted a 9 per cent increase in freight rates a short time ago, Canadian railways now have further applications for freight rate increases before the Board of Transport Commissioners. They have asked for the following: an immediate 7 per cent rate increase; a 6.5 per cent return on the C.P.R.'s net investment in railway property; and a further 9 per cent increase.

Since April, 1949, increases granted the railroads and their annual cost have been as follows:

	% Increase	Cumulative % Increase over March, 1948	Annual Cost
April 8, 1948.....	21.0	21.0	$ 70,000,000
Oct. 11, 1949.....	8.0	30.7	30,000,000
Mar. 23, 1950 (16% in lieu of 8%)	7.4	40.4	28,000,000
June 16, 1950 (20% in lieu of 16%)	3.4	45.2	13,000,000
July 26, 1951.....	12.0	62.6
Feb. 11, 1952 (17% in lieu of 12%)	4.5	69.9	74,000,000
Jan. 1, 1953.....	9.0	85.2	42,000,000
			$257,000,000

With no competitive means of transportation to keep rates down, the increases in railway rates have hit hard at Western Canada. Farmers have been particularly burdened by the increased rates since they pay both the freight on produce they ship to market and on manufactured goods from the industrial areas. Any further increase in freight rates would be a blow to the prairie farmers.

Gift Of Hockey Puck

Vancouver Sun

Court circles in London are doubtless agog over the imminent arrival of the puck with which Maurice Richard scored his 325th goal.

This puck, so we learn, is to be plated with gold and sent to Her Majesty. This sort of thing is one reason why we sing "God Save the Queen." Police forces protect her from accident. The armed forces protect her from national enemies. But only God can preserve her from the egomania of her subjects.

Goodbye To Nuisance Taxes

By T. W. PUE

Mr. Abbott has brought down what he says is his last budget, and it's a good one. Hardly anyone can be angry or go away mad with the 1953 budget. Even if this is an election year and we expected tax cuts anyway.

The 11% reduction in personal income taxes, and reduced rates of corporation taxes are, of course, important. But the really outstanding features of this budget is the elimination of the nuisance check excise tax and radio license fee.

T. W. PUE

Not so long ago I wrote out a check in the presence of an American business friend. He asked me, as I put a stamp on it, "What are you going to do with that check—mail it?" To him it seemed odd to have to put a 2c stamp on a check to make it legal. But I've never known the time when I DIDN'T have to stamp every check.

Well, now it's good riddance to a bothersome nuisance tax.

RADIO LICENSE FARCE

It's funny how long a perfectly farcical idea can persist in the minds of some people, and the principle of the radio license fee is the funniest—and the grimmest of all.

The funny idea was that the $2.50 license fee tax on radio sets was necessary to give the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation an independent income so it wouldn't be dependent on the government for its support. It probably cost the Government about half the $2.50 to collect and a whole army of salaried men—office executives, directors, inspectors, collectors and investigators was kept on the staff of the Department of Transport to try and collect this license fee. Now some of these fellows will have to go out and get a job. So an unnecessary lot of human energy and wasted effort was being spent annually to support the myth that the CBC is not a government-paid department. But the fee is being abolished and there'll be no television fee.

But we don't need to worry about television, if it's left to the CBC there'll be none here for the next twenty years.

PROSPEROUS TIMES

The keynote of Mr. Abbott's address was that last year Canadians had prosperity without additional inflation. With no let-up in Defence spending and other Government services being fully maintained, other tax cuts are being made effective. Besides reductions in income taxes, there is abolition of sales tax on newsprint, greater allowance on medical expenses (all over 3% instead of formerly 2%) and other important reductions such as 4c tax on cigarettes.

All this is possible (an estimated total tax reduction of $250,000,000.00) because Canada's "Gross National Product" is rising year by year and it is estimated that it will go up another billion dollars (from 23 billion in '52) this year.

By making and selling more goods we are benefiting directly by lower taxes. Which seems to prove that the only way to have prosperity is not to work harder, and produce more goods.

And that applies to a nation as well as to individuals.

Prayer

Last Friday, the Christian Women's world-day of prayer was observed in Canada and many other countries. It is good to see members of all Christian groups united in the spirit of Prayer. When we consider that our nominally Christian churches are divided on questions ranging from the Divinity of Christ to whether or not an organ should be allowed in a church. It is refreshing to note that all agree on the power and efficacy of prayer.

A little-known group, the Christadelphians, through an Edmonton district member of this group sent us the following thoughts on Prayer:

"Prayer is the mightiest thing put into human hands. If we know how to pray, nothing is impossible to us. Prayer should be a thing of plan and purpose as well as impulse."

The power to pray, and the power to teach others to pray, is entirely dependent on the depth of the spiritual life."

To my mind, this is the problem that should be uppermost in the minds of our lawmakers—the ending of the discrimination against men over 40 years of age when it comes to employment. What do our Senators and M.P.'s propose to do to these older men—shoot them?

HELEN McLEOD.
Brightbank, Alberta.

Late at a friend's party, I met and chatted with a girl. Commenting on one young man I said, "Well, take a look at that flirtatious guy over there—giving all the girls the glad eye! If I had a boy friends like that I'd kill him!" Then, turning to her, I asked, "What would you do?" Glaring, she snapped, "Nothing! For your information, that young man's my fiance and he's merely trying to liven things up around here!"

Worthy Children Given Real Home

There is a big brick house on 103 St. and 99 Ave., thousands of people drive or walk past daily and yet few realize that it is more than just a house. It's a monument to kindness and determination. This is The Edmonton for Ex-Servicemen's Children and, when it was incorporated under The Benevolent Societies Act in 1946 it was the first home of its kind in Canada.

The home is a complete departure from what we have come to know of charitable institutions — it is more comparable to a good residential hotel with sincere love and kindness added. The idea of starting the home was formed by a group of women who were already working for the purpose of aiding service men. The president of the group then and now is Mrs. J. E. Petersen.

She and her husband do the lions share of the work today, just as they have since the idea was conceived. The going has been tough every inch of the way. In November, 1944, a trust fund was set up and more funds were raised. In April, 1946, the building was purchased. Months of cleaning, decorating and renovating followed; furniture was obtained and then in December, 1946, the doors opened to admit the first children.

The Policy of the Home was to offer care and comfort to children of ex-servicemen or women between the ages of 4 and 14. The age limits have frequently been ignored where families of children are in need of care and do not all come within the limits. As a result the home at present has children ranging in age from 2 to 17.

For the first 2 years of operation the average number of children being cared for was 35 at any one time, since then the need has increased and the average for the past year was 50.

The children are of many racial origins and religious faiths, there is absolutely no discrimination. They are educated to the highest possible standard and are encouraged to attend the church of their faith.

The children enter the home for a multitude of reasons, to mention a few there are cases where the mother has deserted the home and the father is unable to take care of the children and still keep his job.

There are cases of mothers deserted and having to seek full time employment in order to live. Then there are children who were removed from their homes because of neglect by parents, and of course separations, divorces and death of parents are common causes. Wherever it is possible without causing hardship, the parent or guardian of a child are asked to pay part of the cost, an amount of from 20 to 30 dollars per month.

In spite of grants made by the Community Chest, the Provincial Government, The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion (Branch No. 24 and country branches) and the Eastern Star Ladies, the home is constantly in need of funds. Faith and determination has kept things going thus far and it is the writer's firm conviction that the home will continue for many years to come.

One citizen of Edmonton who makes a notable contribution is Dr. Harry Wienlos. He attends the children in sickness, or, if a child is brought to his office he always manages to attend it however busy he may be. He makes no charge for these services and sends cash donations as well. It is men such as he that without ever mentioning it continues to give help and support wherever it is needed. Various food donations are made through the year, one city bakery regularly sends all surplus bread and buns to the home. The city allows the home free taxes, light and telephone. A great number of individuals and organizations send gifts and offer other forms of aid at Christmas time, but it is the other 51 weeks of the year that are difficult to get through.

Just pause for a while and try to imagine some of the chores that go with running such a "family." At this time of the year the children have to be dressed in overshoes and parkas and, of course, undressed.

Consider the job of getting them into bed and up again in the morning. These points would be minor details if the building was designed to house 50 and if sufficient help could be hired, under the existing conditions however it's just plain toil.

Funds do not permit the hiring of a qualified resident housekeeper, so Mr. and Mrs. Petersen have moved into the home in order to be available at all times. This, of course, leaves them very little time to pursue any other interests they may have, or to enjoy the comforts they are entitled to expect after raising a family.

Next time you pass the red brick building take a look in the grounds, you will probably see some well dressed, healthy, happy youngsters playing, then you will really be able to appreciate what a fine job is being done.

"HOME OIL 19"

H. J. Charles

The outside world became excited about Alberta's oil potential long before most Albertans did. But few now, in this Province, can fail to be excited by the story behind such a painting as this one by Artist H. J. Charles. Oil has become a symbol of the exciting present, and the vast future for this land of ours.

A symbol of security throughout Alberta is The Treasury Branches. They are backed by all the resources of the Province—and they offer service in more ways to more Albertans than ever before. You'll be glad you took your financial problems to your local Treasury Branch manager!

Canadian Boys and Girls Send Help To Other Children Through Red Cross

February will be "Junior Red Cross Month" throughout Canada when the more than one million school children enrolled in the Canadian Junior Red Cross Society will work to provide food, clothing, medicines and school supplies for some two hundred million children in Korea, India, Pakistan and Indonesia.

In a nation-wide drive supported by the Canadian Education Association and the provincial Departments of Education, the children will make clothing and health kits, collect school supplies and raise money for this project.

In Korea there are at least 50,000 war orphans roaming the streets searching for food and lodging; India and Pakistan have even greater numerical problems in caring for their children; and in Indonesia, 90 per cent of the children are illiterate.

Literally millions of children are in urgent need of food, clothing and medicines. In Indonesia alone, there are 12,000,000 persons suffering from yaws, a crippling disease that means slow death and continual misery but which is curable almost immediately with penicillin.

"In Korea, all notions of quick rehabilitation must be put aside," declares M. C. Cooke, U.S. Red Cross representative in the Far East. "The problem is one of emergency relief." This entails feeding, sheltering and clothing the 10,000,000 war victims, a U.N. job in which Red Cross is co-operating, and fighting disease and caring for the sick and injured, a program implemented largely by the League of Red Cross Societies.

With these reasons for its campaign, the Junior Red Cross has felt it imperative to call on the support of every classroom. All monies collected will be used to purchase relief materials through Red Cross' special facilities.

In addition to the contribution of relief goods, children who support the drive will be making a concrete contribution to the cause of international understanding, one of the aims of the Junior Society.

Chrysler Corporation Plan Huge Canadian Expansion

A plant manufacturing expansion program costing over seventeen million dollars and requiring more than two years to complete is being undertaken immediately in Windsor by the Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited. When completed the Corporation will be able to produce more than double its present output of passenger cars. The program was announced at a press conference held by E. C. Row, President and General Manager of the Corporation.

"We have made a very comprehensive study, explained Mr. Row, "and our confidence in the future of Canada demands an immediate expansion of our facilities. This expansion will take more than the usual time, for we must replace our present loading and shipping facilities, before we can undertake other construction for the addition to add to our passenger car plant." The Corporation's passenger car plant will have additions on the west and south sides which, when completed, will more than double the existing floor area of the plant. When completed, the total floor area of the plant will be substantially over one million square feet. Additional employees will be required eventually, but their number will not be known until the project is completed.

The new loading and shipping facilities, of necessity, will be one of the first buildings to be completed in the programme. Company officials reveal that it will be located on the Corporation's property adjoining the Corporation's present passenger car and motor home plant. Powerhouse will also be enlarged considerably to meet the requirements of the new facilities. Also included in the expansion

Soil Conditioner Now In Wettable Form

A wettable flake form of synthetic soil conditioner for application as a solution by sprayer or watering can rather than a dry dust, has been introduced in Canada by Canadian Industries Limited.

The new formulation is named "Loxar" W to distinguish it from CIL's dry dust soil conditioner, "Loxar", which was brought out earlier this year.

The new product is readily soluble in water and is recommended for the control of surface crusting of soil in vegetable and flower gardens, greenhouse flats and market garden beds. It will also prevent erosion on slopes and embankments until natural cover is established.

One pound of "Loxar" W dissolved in 14 gallons of water will treat 200 square feet. It is available in 20 and 40 pound containers.

plans is a new transportation garage and building for experimental engineering facilities which will also be located on the Corporation's present property.

Architectural plans are now in the course of preparation.

Former Alberta Bank Manager Promoted To Assist. General Manager

MONTREAL — In order to meet the immense industrial development which is taking place in Western Canada, the Bank of Montreal is raising to a new status its field organizations in the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia by creating new territorial division and by the establishment of assistant general managers departments at Winnipeg and Vancouver. This is the first expansion move of its kind covering Western Canada to be undertaken by any of the chartered banks.

"The magnitude of the West's post-war development," said Gordon R. Ball, B. of M. president, in making the announcement following a meeting of the bank's directors today, "is something we have watched with the greatest interest and admiration for a number of years, and we have endeavored to keep pace with this rapid development by the expansion of our branch organization wherever the need has arisen.

"Now, however," said Mr. Ball, "the need for enlarged regional authority has become apparent if we are to provide the kind of banking service we feel is called for in meeting the vast growth which is going on in the West at present and which we confidently expect to increase greatly in the years ahead."

NEW REGIONAL HEADS

To direct the bank's new Prairie Provinces division, Mr. Ball announced the appointment of Leslie L. Sinclair as assistant general manager, with headquarters in Winnipeg. Mr. Sinclair has served for the past two years as superintendent of the Manitoba and Saskatchewan district. Before being stationed in Winnipeg, he was superintendent of Alberta branches for three years. Previously he held important posts in Toronto, Montreal and New York. His earlier experience, however, was in the West, and he has seen service at numerous branches in Alberta.

For the new Pacific Coast division, which comprises the Yukon as well as British Columbia, the bank has named W. H. Raikes assistant general manager, with headquarters in Vancouver. Harry Raikes, a native Westerner, who has served the bank from coast to coast, has been superintendent of the B.C. district since 1950. He previously held important appointments in Ottawa, Montreal and New York, as well as at a number of points in the West.

FIRST BANK IN THE WEST

office within a few weeks of the arrival of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Back in the eighties, the bank crossed through the West hand in hand with the builders of the first transcontinental line—an undertaking which, in fact, it financed in large measure.

ALBERTA STILL LEADING IN TECHNICAL TRAINING

Alberta has been a leader in technical education in Canada, establishing its present school in 1916, according to Dr. James Fowler, principal emeritus of the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art, who spoke to the Knights of the Round Table Tuesday.

Alberta has been a leader in technical education in Canada, establishing its present school in 1916, according to Dr. James Fowler, principal emeritus of the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art, who spoke to the Knights of the Round Table Tuesday.

While Quebec was the first in the field in 1915, Alberta followed the very next year, stated the former Tech principal. Dr. Fowler had been with the Institute from the year of its founding until he resigned as principal last year.

Alberta is still a leader in training more apprentices per capita than almost any other province and also in the quality of instruction, he stated.

The institute, which is administered by the provincial department of Education, is financed in three ways, 10 per cent coming from students' fees and the remainder being shared by the provincial and federal governments.

The latter began to assist the Tech after the recent war through the Vocational Education Assistance Act.

TRUE TO LIFE
"An effort is made in the shops to simulate the environment which the student will find when he goes into industry," Mr. Fowler stated. By illustration, he pointed out that in the auto, machine and woodworking shops the same type of tools and methods are used as in commercial enterprises.

While half the day is devoted to the practical side of the trade, the other half is for theory, mathematics, drafting, and general knowledge.

Up on the North Hill, Dr. Fowler stated, there is an investment of from six to seven million dollars, where a staff of 150 gives apprenticeship courses to day, evening and correspondence students numbering 3,100.

He emphasized that there was a difference between a technical school and an institute. The former taught a minimum of academic subjects, and students could complete requirements with shop courses.

"A technical institute," he said, "is a school where students come in and prepare for one occupation and their day—the whole day is devoted to this one end."
